

Moon-Lily Silk Mobiles
PO Box 270533 Fort Collins, Colorado 80527-0533

Jan R. Carson
866-650-0673 jan@moonlilymobiles.com

Contact: Jan R. Carson, (866) 650-0673 or jan@moonlilymobiles.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AS WINTER APPROACHES, ARTIST INTRODUCES FLOWERING DOGWOOD MOBILE
TO SUSPEND SPRINGTIME FOR ALL WHO APPRECIATE NATURE

- what? “Flowering Dogwood Mobile” consists of four branches cast from life in durable resin. Blossoms are cut from silk crepe, and leaves are hand-dyed. It is available in a limited edition of 50 and measures 54 inches in diameter.
- when? Orders accepted immediately.
- where/how? “Flowering Dogwood Mobile” can be purchased through any of the locations listed at www.moonlilymobiles.com/locations.html or by contacting the artist, Jan R. Carson, at (866) 650-0673 or limited@moonlilymobiles.com.
- who? Jan R. Carson is a fiber artist whose works have been featured in juried, invitational, and solo exhibitions and are in numerous private collections. She has recently begun creating larger, commissioned pieces for corporations and public spaces. In 2002, Carson was a finalist for the prestigious NICHE Award, honoring excellence and innovation in American and Canadian craft. Since 1999 she has been the artist and owner of Moon-Lily Silk Mobiles, the name under which she created a line of popular kinetic sculptures sold in galleries, boutiques and museum stores throughout the U.S. Carson received her M.F.A. in fibers from Colorado State University and her undergraduate degree from Oklahoma State University. She lives in Fort Collins, Colorado.

--END--